IN MEMORIAM.

"I FEEL THAT I SHALL REST TO NIGHT." (Last words of Norman D. Embrey.)

"I feel that I shall rest to-night, Despite of weariness and pain; My blood leaps wild-uy heart is light, With the blest thought of home again.

"And I shall rest as trusting child Within his loving mother's arms; Lulled by her song to slambers mild. · Safe from forecodings and alarms.

"Shall rest with thankful heart and head That long and paintul journey o'er, I sleep unhaunted by the dread Of dying on a distant shore.

"And health, if health can ever come, Will be where all is warm and bright. With love and peace, with friends and home: So, brother, I shall rest to-night."

And he rested that night as the mariner blest, His vessel safe moored in the haven of rest; As the soldier, though covered with dust and with gore, Who knows his last march, his last battle is

He rested as laborer who foldeth away The work be hath finished at closing of day; He rested as loved one returned to his home, Never more from the scenes of his childhood

He rested in slumber unbroken and sweet, In the depths and the slience of calmness

He rested in regions by mortals untrod-He rested from suffering-he rested with God. Oh say, shall we mouro that the dark night is ended

And the daylight hath dawned with a glory unblended; Shall we sigh that the weary hath ended his rest.

And the pardoned reclines on his Saviour's kind breast? No! with his dear ememory as rich treasure keeping. Be unugled 'mid drops of our hearts' bitter weeping,

With Heaven's note of welcome, and full roll of praise, Our glory to God in His mystical ways.

TO LITTLE FANNIE.

BY W. W. C. A few short hours ago, my little miss,

I saw thee by thy loving father's side, And softly priot upon his brow a kiss, And stroke his hand in gleeful, Childish pride.

I saw thy happy face with smiles aglow, And every pulse with gladuess seemed to shake;

But now I hear thee pass my chamber door, Sobbing as if thy poor young heart Would break. What pitiless thing has crept into thy breast,

And caused my little innocent to sigh; And robbed thee of thy wonted happiness, And dimmed with tears thy sparkling, Azure eye?

Ah! it grieves my soul to see a painful tear In older eyes, but one so pure, so sinless as thou art .-

Each piteous wail that falls upon my ear, Sinks as a poisoned shaft into my heart. But these are a few of the many and numerous

I terwoven with our desting. To day some balmy bliss instills

Itself into our hearts; to-morrow Sees it fly. Yet let not this disturb thee, little dreamer, Although to-day some patty grief deface Thy happiness, love thy Redeemer, And in his bosom find A resting place.

Rats detest chloride of lime and coal tar. Do not throw away your ribbons because they are soiled. Wash them in suds made of fine toilet soap and cold water, squeezing them quickly through. Then iron them between two cloths, with an iron n t too hot.

"Mr. Jones," said Mr . Jones, with an air of trumph, "don't you think marriage is a means of grace?" "Well, yes," growled Jones; I suppose anything is a means of grace that breaks down pride and leads to repentance."

It is announced, says the London Academy, that Vandyck's long-lost "Madonna with the Child," of which countless copies exist in various parts of Europe, has at last been discovered in the original. The picture has formed the alter piece to the chapel of an obscure German cloister, and was found there by the Fiemish Pilnter, George Van Haanen. After slight restoration it is now to be seen entirely uninjured and in its pristine condition.

The other day a Vicksburg father, finding it necessary to reprove his son, gently said: "Don't stuff victuals into your mouth that way, my son; George Washington didn't eat after that fashion." The boy accepted the reproof without comment, and, after pondering for awhite, he remarked to himself: "And I don't believe George Washington licked his boy for finding a bottle of whiskey in the shed | receive special attention. when he was bunting after a horseshoe,
